News Digest.

A shocking calamity occurred in New York yesterday. A dwelling house on Fortieth street was destroyed by fire, together with ten of its inmates—the wife and four children of ANDREW WHELLER, and the wife and four children of a Mr. BENNETT.

The New Jersey Democratic State Convention has chosen delegates to Charleston, supposed to be favorable to the nomination of DOUGLAS.

Fifty thousand dollars worth of property was destroyed by fire at Brooklyn, N. Y., on Tuesday.

Hon. HOWELL COBB, of Georgia, has written a letter withdrawing his name as a candidate for the Presidential nomination at Charleston.

Our City Election.

The recent disclosure of an appalling mass of corruption and rottenness in the vitals of our city government, has aroused all good citizens to the inquiry—What shall be done for our cure? It is plain that half-way work will not suffice. The election of a few honest men to be trampled down by a majority of Corruptionists, will be no benefit. Partial reform is unavailing. The whole city administration must be changed. Not only the administrative but the legislative department must be purified. What good is it to change our Comptroller or our Treasurer, so long as we keep in office Aldermen and Councilors who vote for accounts in a batch, without knowing anything of their amount or character? Does any man suppose that the game of cheating the city has been confined to double issues, or forging of city orders? That is a step in crime only reached through many gradations. When such frauds are perpetrated, we may be sure that none of the more obvious, more easy and more safe modes of robbing the public treasury have been untried. Exorbitant bills; bills for unnecessary work; bills for work once paid for; bills for work half done; bills for work never done, have we not a certain conviction that a full investigation would reveal all these and similar rascalities in such numbers and amounts, as to account for our city debt without other explanation? Who doubts that these matters have become so common as to require the spice of forgery and embezzlement to retrieve their staleness? Is there any man, Democrat, or Republican, who is disposed to deny the utter foulness of this diseased body politic? There is no one.

True, this state of things is known now for the first time to all. Many have known it for a long time, many more have suspected it. Occasionally the people have risen without distinction of party, and have driven the plunderers from power. But such relief has been but temporary. And it has been for the most part of little effect. The new men, not responsible to any party, not bound by even the poor regard professed by Democratic office-holders for the honor of the party which elected them, have usually emulated the vices of their predecessors; and the people, in despair, have turned them out and reinstated the old line regular Democrats.—Matters have gone from bad to worse. Our city credit is justly destroyed, the last issue of our bonds having been peddled off by a Democratic administration at half price; our taxes are enormous, and yet seem to pay nothing, not even the interest on our foreign debt; our Treasury has long been exhausted; and our city orders, illegally and improperly forced into a home circulation, are worth but little more than our bonds, although many of them draw interest at the ruinous rate of ten per cent.; our schools are upon the verge of stopping; teachers and the more honest servants of the city are unpaid, or half paid, while the burdens are constantly accumulating upon the shoulders of our oppressed tax-payers. These, and many more evils connected with and growing out of them, are within the range of every citizen's observation.

We think all right-minded persons will admit that the Democratic party is in a great degree responsible for these evils. Not only do the defaulters and wrong doers belong to that party, but the control of every department of the city government has been almost constantly in the hands of that party, from the date of the city organization. We do not wish to view this matter in a partisan light. It is possible—some may think probable—that if any other party had held undisputed sway, supported by such overwhelming majorities, the case would have been no better. In all parties the tendency of unchecked power is to corruption. It is the weakness of human nature developed by that particular temptation.

There is no reason to believe, first, that this evil will cure itself without the help of the sufferers; nor, second, that the Democratic party will set it right. We have tried these two experiments thoroughly. Both have failed. Even now, the Democratic Convention has, by its nominations of yesterday, given a new proof of its inability to carry out the needed reform. Men have been selected, who however honest and worthy, we all know from their antecedents will never do the work, and display the courage and energy necessary for a thorough reform. It is not in them. The beggars and plunderers, who have infested our city treasury, will not be denied any more than heretofore. They may not be allowed to go over the wall, but they will have to make but little effort to unlock the door.

Answer this, you who have a good opinion of these nominees, and therefore faith in their ability to do the needed work! Will not the Democratic ticket receive the hearty, unfailing, untiring, devoted support of every man in the city who has or expects to have a worthless or doubtful claim to be allowed, or who relies for his livelihood upon the city orders that may, under one pretext or another, find their easy way into his capacious pockets? Not one of these men will be wanting from the polls on election day. And every one of them will vote the Democratic ticket.

The Republican ticket is before the people. We need not praise it. The people know that they can rely upon every man on that ticket, not only for honesty, but for energy, ability and firmness. They are men who will not steal, and who will not let others steal. There will be no such pressure in favor of the thieves upon them as upon Democratic office-holders. The election of the Republican candidates will be the triumph of integrity over corruption, and their popularity cannot be increased by encouraging, but only by stopping plunder. The men who vote for them look to them for vigilance and integrity; not for slackness or corrupt indifference. The character of the men is a guarantee that such anticipations will not be disappointed.

Republicans! citizens! choose! Which do you prefer? which ticket will you support? We call upon you to pronounce for the right, to gather up your energies, and to give your labor and thoughts to the cause, the success of which will be the first round in the ladder by which we must climb to prosperity.

A SINGULAR PROPHETIC DREAM.—William Arms of Napoli, N. Y., writes the following to the Cattaraugus Freeman:

"I wish to make public a very singular dream, which was literally fulfilled at the death of my wife. She had been ill for some time; the day before her death she fell into a trance—like slumber, and on waking she told what she had seen and heard; that she lingered three hours in dying; that the clock was striking six as she breathed her last; she told who went for the friends, and where they were; who laid her out, and the remarks they made; who watched with her, and the remarks they made; how her shroud and coffin was made, giving the inscription on the plate—her name, "Died Apr. 4, 1859, Æ 34 yr's and 1 mo." She told who took charge of the funeral; how the procession was formed; who made the prayer at the house; how the boys were dressed, (their garments were made afterwards and out of the house;) that the minister met us; how the mourners sat, and who were there; told the hymns, the text, the minister's name, some things he said, and the manner he treated his subject; told to whom I applied to dig the grave, his excuse, and then who did dig it. Seeing all this, she reflected and reasoned with herself—'I must be dead, for I have seen all this happen for two days. I am not in hell, for I suffer no pain; if in heaven, it is not as I expected.' Then she awoke, and after telling me the dream, requested me to remember it, as it might prove true; and if it did it would prove the reality of future life.

And here, I must add, it did all prove most wonderfully true! Nothing was done, however, to make it so. The Rev. Mr. Fisher was sent for to preach, and when, after the funeral, I told him of the vision, he said 'it was not a dream—it was of God,' and he knew it because of the part he took. He got a subject nearly arranged for the sermon, when he lost it and could not recall it. He took another and lost it. But a few minutes before he started, the text he used came to mind, and he prepared his sermon on the way. And that one just met the dream! I have stated simply the truth. I believe. Others may doubt. I leave the facts for all to consider. It may be a mistake that death leads us to that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveler returns."

PRICK POMEROY IN THE OIL REGIONS.—BRICK POMEROY, of Wisconsin, is in the Pennsylvania oil regions and sends us the following:

COALVILLE, Pa., March 12, 1860.

FRIEND B:—I have been here for several days, investigating the oil fields. The country is so excited that even the oil will not soothe their troubled spirits. I have tracked the oil springs from the Oberlin College to this place, and after great expense and deep research have decided that the oil comes from the cemetery at Oberlin in which corpulent abolitionists have been from time to time interred! The color and peculiar aroma of the oil, together with the fact that all the veins run towards Harper's Ferry, establish the fact beyond a doubt. Keep up the supply at your end of the line and I will divide the profits.

On comparing two bottles in one of which is a pint of the oil and in the other a copy of the New York Tribune, I find the smell to be the same! It must be very warm where this oil is to be tried out! What do you think? Scientifically thine, BRICK.

Supreme Court.

TUESDAY, March 27.

In the matter of the petition of Isaiah Blunt for writ of habeas corpus. Petition filed by Mr. M. Kelly for petitioner, and motion for habeas corpus. Writ denied.

J. C. Schette naturalized.

Court adjourned till Wednesday, the 4th of April.

A THIEF RUN DOWN BY A BULL-DOG.—The mail agent at Wheeling, Va., was recently robbed of a carpet-bag and cloth coat, while he was stopping a moment at a friend's house. An officer immediately started in pursuit, accompanied by a bull-dog. He soon came in full view of a suspected party, who was named Thompson, and set the dog upon him. The thief was soon overtaken and thrown down. He managed to beat the dog off, and running a short distance he was again thrown down. This was repeated several times, when Thompson, having reached a creek, darted under the bridge, and the dog in jumping after him drew his chain around a protruding cross beam, and swung out in a regular hanging position over the water. This little detention gave Thompson something of a start, but the united efforts of the officer and dog soon brought him to a stand. He was arrested and confessed the theft, and gave the name of his accomplice.

THE "SOUTHERN CONFEDERACY," the black mail paper at Atlanta, Ga., is exasperated at the idea of a Republican convention in Virginia, and says: "We have thousands of men in the South who are in secret affiliation with the Black Republican party, and who, if the Black standard was to-morrow raised in our midst, would be found fighting under its treasonable folds, lending material 'aid and comfort' to our enemies. Every southern community owe it to themselves and their institutions to rid themselves of these pestilential traitors. We hope soon to hear of the hegira of this Virginia Black Republican Committee, and their coadjutors and sympathisers, to the North of Mason and Dixon's line."

HEAVY WIND.—The Wheeling Intelligencer says:

We see it stated that the recent violent March winds have done a great deal of damage in Eastern Ohio, particularly to the fences. The post holes in many places have been blown away.

We never heard of holes being blown away, but we did hear of as remarkable a circumstance once upon a time. Our informant said that one day he was riding through a "dug way," and the steep banks on either side were deeply perforated, every few feet by the swallows; but the next day he passed along the same way and the banks had all disappeared, and nothing was left but the swallow holes.—Cleveland Herald.

MICHAEL COON died in Philadelphia on the 20th inst., in his 106th year. He was born October 15th, 1753, and served throughout the Revolution and the war of 1812.—During the former struggle he was accompanied by three brothers. He was six feet four inches in height, and the dwarf of the family at that.

SOULOUQUE IS ECONOMICAL for an ex-Emperor. He has recently changed his lodgings in Kingston, (W. I.) to save three dollars a month in rent. His wife does the family washing—a proof that she is an accomplished and worthy lady, able for any emergency.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—We are pained to learn that Mr. Abner Westrope, of the town of Kendall (near Cottage Inn) was killed on Saturday last. We learn no particulars excepting that the accident was caused by the running off of his team.—Mineral Point Tribune.

"IN A PET?"—It is stated by a Washington correspondent that Senator Douglas, although still a member of the Committee on Territories, has absolutely refused to attend the meetings of the Committee, since he was removed from its head.

IT IS NOW thought probable that both houses of Congress will take a recess during the National Conventions, in order to give members an opportunity to attend at Charleston and Chicago.

THE FOX AND WISCONSIN Improvement will be opened for navigation on Wednesday, the 28th inst., from Green Bay to Portage City.

THE CITY.

The Democratic Nominations.

The Democratic Convention yesterday met at the Common Council rooms and nominated the following ticket as we predicted:

For Mayor—WM. PITT LYNDE.
Comptroller—FERDINAND KUEHN.
City Treasurer—G. G. DOUSMAN.
City Attorney—JOSHUA LADUE.

Six ballots were taken for Treasurer. The first standing as follows:

W. H. JACOBS 27; G. G. DOUSMAN 23; M. VON BAUMBACH 4.

MR. LADUE being called for said, he could do no less than return thanks for the nomination. He was also gratified at the manner in which the nominations were made. He was proud to be on a ticket headed by such a man as WM. PITT LYNDE. I acknowledge, he said, that I am a young man, but when you look over this western country and see the thrift and prosperity which is the legitimate result of the industry of our young men, you will have confidence in me that I will do my duty.

MR. LA DUE made some original remarks in conclusion, about "liberty perching upon our banners," &c., which figure, it is reasonable to suppose, from the storm of applause that followed, was appreciated as it should be, in connection with the thrift and industry of the preceding remarks.

WM. PITT LYNDE, having been escorted to the room by a committee, was next called upon. He said:

"I thank you for this demonstration in my behalf. It was but last evening that I was spoken to in relation to this office, and it was with great reluctance that I allowed my name to be used, for I felt that you had men who could give better satisfaction, who were more familiar with city affairs than I, but after this demonstration I can no longer decline. And if I am elected by your suffrages, I will endeavor to faithfully discharge the duties. It is with great satisfaction that I heard of the other nominees on the ticket. If you elect them I feel confident there will no longer be any complaint of the mismanagement of municipal affairs."

He alluded to the public excitement in reference to the shortcomings of certain officers, and exonorated the Democratic party from all blame, (for which the Democratic party ought to be thankful,) and closed his remarks by some wholesome advice, alluding to certain infamous attempts which would be made to distract and divide the party.

DON A. J. UPHAM afterwards made a Union saving speech. In which he showed conclusively that unless the Democrats elected their ticket, they would be beaten; a discovery which, it is needless to say, was met with bursts of applause from that side of the house where the Third Ward most did congregate. He was not a prophet, nor a son of a—prophet, but the Democracy would shave Connecticut closer, in the April election, than she had ever been shaved before, and the abolitionists of that State will get such a stirring up, that they will be afraid to come to the polls in November. Mr. UPHAM regarded the nominations just made, in a national light—upon the coming Presidential election depended the stability of the confederated States; therefore, let Democrats be up and doing, and not lose an inch. He declared that the ticket was not only pure, but, like CESAR'S wife, it was above suspicion. Judge SLOAN was also treated to a chapter. The worthy don having struck an attitude, after the manner of those people who "see a dagger before them," said:

And has it come to this, that a man on the Supreme Bench must come out and tell the people before-hand how he will decide—in order to get votes!! Many of the delegates were visibly affected at this picture of judicial turpitude, and tears were shed freely for the honor of the State.

He closed by going off in a sort of pyrotechnical resolution, that we all go to the polls, when the time arrives, and vote for LUTHER S. DIXON, which resolution and conclusion were responded to by thirteen men, who opened their mouths so wide that it was supposed by two-thirds of the assemblage that the upper parts of their heads were off.

Our friend of the Literary Democratic Weekly Gazette, it is worthy of note, did not evince his usual exhileration. He was heard to mutter unintelligable words occasionally, which sounded something like STARKWEATHER or stark mad—but was otherwise passive.

CAPTAIN CROSS' REMOVED.—It appears after all that the reported removal of Captain Cross from the command of the steamship Milwaukee was not without some foundation. His removal had not been officially announced at the time, it is true, but we have his own authority for saying that he has since been discharged. He arrived yesterday upon the Detroit, from Grand Haven, having given up possession of the Milwaukee to Capt. RICHARDS, who succeeds him in command of that vessel. This intelligence will be received with great and just dissatisfaction by the numerous friends of Capt. CROSS, because it can't be denied that in point of ability the Company could not well have found his equal. We are reliably informed that the removal of Capt. Cross was against the wishes of Superintendent MUIR, that gentleman, doubtless, having sufficient foresight to see that the policy pursued in this, and some other matters, by the parties controlling the management of the route, would be likely to work injury to the Company in this city, upon which they are dependent for so large a share of their traffic. And in this Mr. MUIR was not mistaken. The columns of the SENTINEL will bear evidence of the interest we have taken in the success of the Detroit and Milwaukee Railway, but we must confess that its managers have pursued a policy towards Milwaukee with regard to certain trifling matters that has detracted immensely from its popularity hereabouts. Both for the good of the city and the route we should be glad it were otherwise.

LECTURE THIS EVENING.—The Rev. C. D. HELMER lectures this evening at Albany Hall for the benefit of the poor of our city.—The subject is "Christianity the Conscience of the World." Amid the political excitement which now exists, we hope this philanthropic move will not be lost sight of. The effort is a noble one, and one which every good citizen and christian man and woman will wish success; let there be a general assemblage at Albany Hall to-night, both to hear an able and interesting lecture and to lend a helping hand to the destitute.

MUNICIPAL COURT, MARCH 28.—John Anderson and John Daly, vagrancy. Penalty and costs $22, or ten days in jail. Committed.

Eva Preiss, assault and battery. Sentenced to 5 days in jail. Committed.

Ellen Luci, disorderly. Penalty and costs $2,96, or five days in jail. Committed.

EXTENSIVE SALE of a stock of watches, jewelry, &c., amounting to several thousand dollars, comes off at WALL'S city auction room on Friday and continues from day to day. Read advertisement.

THE CONCERT of the Musical Society takes place to-morrow evening at Albany Hall. There are a number of new pieces on the programme.

TO THE PUBLIC.

☞ THOSE HAVING BUILDINGS TO LET, or in want of tenements, should bear in mind that the prices for Advertising in the SENTINEL have been reduced, and that Advertisements of tenements "TO LET," or "WANTED," will be inserted in our special columns under those heads, ONCE for FIFTY CENTS, and THREE TIMES at the low price of ONE DOLLAR—thus affording persons who want tenants or tenements on the 1st of May, an easy and cheap mode of finding them without paying commissions or spending days in search of Houses. This is a reduction of ONE HUNDRED PER CENT. on our last year's rates for this class of Advertisements.

THE SENTINEL, having double the circulation IN THE CITY, and more than treble OUT OF IT, of any other paper here, renders it far the cheapest and most desirable medium in Milwaukee for all classes of Advertisements.

EVERY BUSINESS MAN who consults his own interest will avail himself of the columns of THE DAILY SENTINEL,—especially when he can do so at the same prices charged by other papers, and secure more than double the advantage of circulation.

This is no boast, but EVERY WORD TRUE.

GOING UP.—We are glad to see that Messrs. HORTON & FOWLER, Produce and Commission Merchants, are "going up" slightly, in the literal sense of this term. They have recently vacated their old office on West Water Street, and taken up their quarters in the spacious south half of HOLTON'S new brick block—an elevation of about eight feet above their old place of business next door. Their new establishment is more conveniently arranged for the branch of business in which they are engaged than any other of the kind in the city. Their office is elegantly fitted up, and in the rear of it, on the first floor, there is ample room for the storage of flour, potatoes, &c. The two upper stories are divided off into large bins for holding coarse grains, seeds, etc., which are connected with the lower story by conductors similar to those used in elevators and mills, so that whenever they need to draw any grain from the bins above, the only trouble is to remove a stopper and let it slide. This saves an immense amount of work, in doing away with the necessity of shoveling the grain into bags, besides being much more expeditious than the old method. They keep a good supply of coarse grains, mill stuffs, &c. always on hand. They are both worthy and enterprising young men, and we are gratified to notice this evidence of their prosperity.

MILWAUKEE, March 28, 1856.

MR. FRED'K VOGEL—Dear Sir:—The undersigned, citizens of the Eighth Ward, have seen with regret that you decline the nomination for Councilor, unanimously tendered you.

Having the greatest confidence that, in the present state of municipal affairs, the weight of your influence would go far toward restoring confidence and order, we would most earnestly request you to reconsider your determination, and to allow us the use of your name for Councilor of the Ward at the ensuing Charter Election.

Yours, very respectfully,

[Signed.] J. C. TRENTLAGE,
GEO. BURNHAM,

Messrs. Trentlage, Burnham, Shepardson, and others:

Tendering you my thanks for your kind expression of confidence,

I am, very respectfully, yours,

ELECTION, TUESDAY, APRIL 3, 1860.

The Land Grant Question.

We took occasion, yesterday, to express, at some length, our views upon the measure lately before the Assembly, looking to a repeal of the act which conferred the benefits of the Land Grant upon the La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad Company, and to a disposal of the same to a new company. We did not hesitate to deprecate this course of legislation; and further reflection has not in any degree mitigated our views upon that subject.

We endeavored, in our remarks, to make it apparent that if the Company had not complied with all the conditions with which the grant to it was coupled, it yet might not be altogether the fault of the Company, but on the contrary, that every candid mind must admit the existence of circumstances beyond the control of the Company—circumstances to which we then briefly alluded—that had prevented its compliance with said conditions; and that equity and good conscience would not insist on the forfeiture at this time.

We had proposed to follow up those remarks, to-day, with some others touching the question as to what company was in the most exact condition to be the recipient of this grant, in case the Legislature should see fit to retake it from the La Crosse Company. In the meantime, advices from Madison inform us that the subject has been indefinitely postponed—a result which meets our hearty approbation. But we will still avail ourselves of the opportunity to allude to the company we had thought worthy of being suggested in connection with the subject, before the action of the Assembly rendered the suggestion superfluous.

We have not made ourselves acquainted with the financial condition of the Milwaukee, Watertown and Baraboo Valley Railroad Company, or with the present state of its progress and connections, or the ultimate views and purposes of its managers. But we have been witnesses of the fact, that during the last three years, and through the most trying period the railroad system has ever known, this company has been gradually pushing forward the work upon its lines, without ostentation or parade, and with an industry and perseverance worthy of more than a passing notice. Indeed, we think the course pursued by this company thus far, is a guaranty of its claims to the confidence of the public, in the integrity and ability of the present managers of the enterprise; and we shall endeavor, at a future time, to advert to the importance its lines are assuming, and are calculated to assume, in the railroad system of the State and the West.

GIVING IT UP FOR LOST.—The more honest and discerning of the "Democratic" organs North, are beginning to see and admit the game is nearly up with their party. The New York Sun is one of this class. In an article upon the wickedness, corruption and folly of the men who now control the destinies of the party, that reliable Democratic sheet says:

"The arrogance of the Southern Slave power, its open avowals of disunion sentiments, its denunciations and unsparing proscription of every Northern Democrat who has the courage to rebuke its insolence, and the slavish spirit manifested by those who assume to represent the Northern Democracy, are fast destroying the party. Its fate is sealed, unless by a revolution of the honest masses, the unprincipled and corrupt leaders who have brought upon it disgrace and defeat, are overthrown and driven from public office."

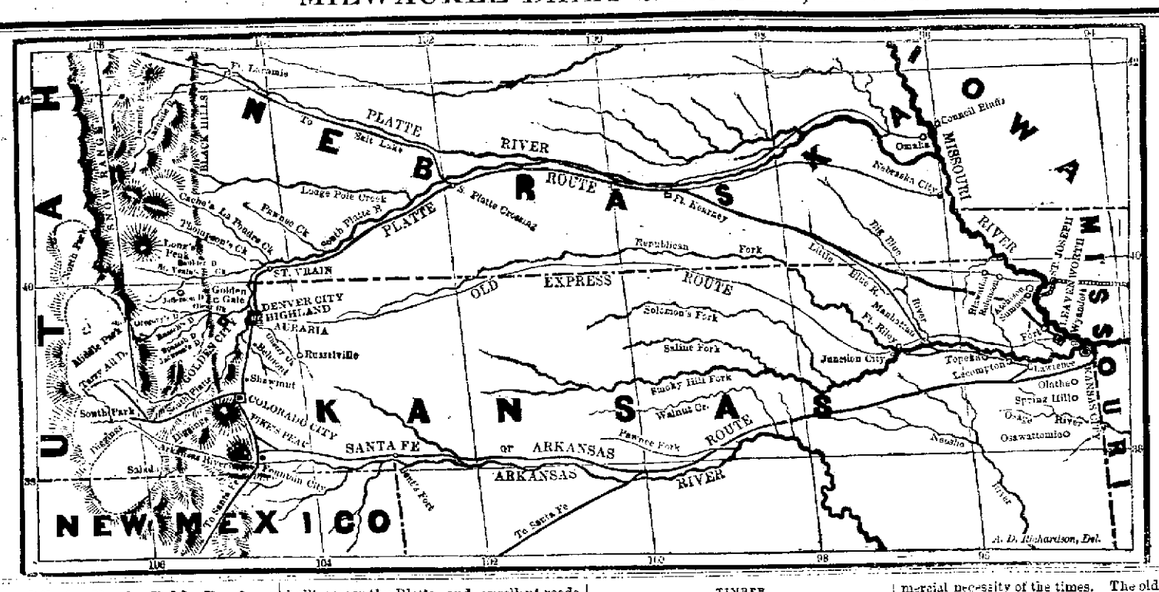
FIRE AT RACINE.—We learn that the house of the Rev. Mr. KINEY, in Racine, was destroyed by fire on Monday afternoon. There was no insurance, and the loss is estimated at $2,000.

ARREST OF JAIL BREAKERS FROM SHEBOYGAN.—On Saturday last, Sheriff TURNER, of Sheboygan, came to this city in search of two men—Jacob Braun and John Kessaler—who, while incarcerated in jail in that place on a charge of highway robbery, broke out of the same on the 12th inst., and were supposed to have come to this city. Officers Ann Williams and Samuel Ellis went to work yesterday to work up the job, and Kessaler was arrested at the Post Office while enquiring for a letter. They then went to a German eating house on the Milwaukee plank road, and lay in wait for Braun. He was seen coming towards the house about one o'clock P. M., but saw officer Ellis, whom he knew, through the window, and took to his heels, the officers after him. A smart chase of two or three blocks resulted in his capture—though, being a powerful fellow, he made a stout resistance. Both these prisoners are thoroughly desperate characters. They will go back to Sheboygan in a day or two—Chicago Press and Tribune.

TEMPTING QUESTIONS.—Because we stoop considerably in our walk, is it a sign we are a stoop-id editor? Because we are fond of oyster stews, &c., is it any sign we are a stew-pid editor? Because we occasionally manufacture out our thoughts in rhyme, is it any sign we should suffer the taunts of an ignorant and ill-judging public on account of our stupid ditty.



The Pike's Peak Gold Region.

BY A. D. RICHARDSON.

The above map, prepared from drawings and observations made upon the ground, delineates the principal routes to, and settlements, diggings, and other localities of interest in the PIKE'S PEAK GOLD REGION, up to the present time. While it is impossible within these narrow limits to give full and exact details in regard to all matters in the mining districts, it is substantially accurate, and presents a large amount of valuable information, in compact and convenient form.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE.

The miners last season labored under great disadvantages, viz.:

No paying diggings were discovered until late in May. Many immigrants who arrived before that period, went back discouraged, and turned back others who were on the way with supplies and machinery.

The "Utes" or Utah Indians were so troublesome in some localities, as to render it unsafe for solitary miners or small prospecting parties, away from the settlements.

The geology of the Pike's Peak region is utterly unlike that of California or Australia; hence, old miners from these countries, though familiar with the details of working the mines, were no more expert in prospecting, than men fresh from the farm or the counting-room.

Quartz-mining—which must always take the lead here—required the transportation, by oxen, of heavy and costly machinery from the Missouri river—700 miles. It was not sent for until the discoveries of gold demonstrated that it was necessary and could be profitably used. It arrived so late that on the opening of Winter only two steam quartz-mills had been put in operation, though several other rude crushing machines, of small capacity, and made upon the ground, had been running for a few weeks.

Notwithstanding these drawbacks, the yield of the Pike's Peak mines up to the present time, is estimated by those who have the best facilities for judging, at upwards of one million and a half of dollars. Nearly half a million had been received at the mints, for coining, several months ago. In view of all the circumstances, the wonder is, not that so little, but that so much, has been effected.

The average mint value of the gold is about $16 per ounce troy.

The largest "nuggets" discovered last season ranged in value from $40 to $150. Recent advices, however, state that about the first of February, Messrs. Temple & McIntyre obtained in North Clear Creek, a lump of nearly pure gold, valued at $1,200.

In addition to the diggings worked during the Summer, many peculiarly rich "leads" were discovered late in the Fall, when the majority of the miners were leaving, to spend the Winter in "the States." Parties who have mined and prospected extensively in the South Park, and on the head waters of the Blue and Colorado rivers immediately west of it, express the opinion that in those localities alone, (embracing but a small portion of the known Gold Region) paying diggings have already been found, sufficiently extensive to employ a hundred thousand miners during the present season. This is probably an exaggeration; but present indications promise that there will be room enough for all, however heavy the Spring immigration may prove.

POPULATION.

During the past Winter, there have been about ten thousand people in the Pike's Peak country. In August and September there were nearly twice as many, but thousands of the miners have been spending the Winter at their old homes in the States, and designing to return in the Spring, with their families, machinery or goods, and other conveniences for permanent settlement.

EXTENT OF THE GOLD REGION.

The paying diggings already discovered, are mainly between Long's Peak and Pike's Peak, from North to South, and embraced within the 105th and 107th meridians of West longitude. But the geological formation of these localities does not apparently differ from that of the whole range. Gold has been known to exist in Utah for several years, though the Mormon leaders have kept it a secret as far as possible. It has also been found near Ft. Bridger, in the vicinity of Ft. Laramie, and at various other points further South, embracing the present known gold region and extending beyond it. During last Summer and Fall, the writer of this journeyed a thousand miles from North to South, among the Rocky Mountains and along their Eastern slopes, in Nebraska, Kansas and New Mexico. In the last-named Territory, he saw remarkably fine specimens of gold, obtained only a few miles from Santa Fe; and his observations along the whole route confirmed previous impressions that the whole mountain ranges from Salt Lake to Mexico, abound, at intervals, not only in gold, but also in silver and the baser metals, and will ultimately prove the richest and most extensive mineral region in the world.

In corroboration of this, it is a noteworthy fact that the recently-discovered "Washoe Mines" of gold, silver and copper, about which so much excitement exists in California, are in the same latitude with the Pike's Peak diggings, though nearly a thousand miles West of them; and that much of the intervening rage of country bears indications of being a rich mineral region. The Washoe mines are in the Carson Valley, on the western borders of Utah. Recent advices state that a single "claim" in a silver "lead" has been sold for $40,000; and express fear that many mining localities in California will be nearly depopulated as soon as Spring opens, and the stampede commences for the Washoe diggings.

TOWNS.

DENVER CITY, AURARIA and HIGHLAND, situated 70 miles North of Pike's Peak, at the confluence of Cherry Creek and the South Platte, though established by separate companies, and substantially one city, and at present the metropolis of the Gold Region.—In June last, DENVER and AURARIA, (HIGHLAND was not then founded) contained only two or three frame buildings. The other houses and cabins were of logs, and usually with dirt floors and chimneys.—HIGHLAND beautifully situated on the west bank of the Platte, has since been added to the two pioneer villages, and the three points now contain a population of upwards of three thousand; spacious and elegant brick and frame buildings, heavy trading houses, capacious hotels, a union school, a printing office, and many of the surroundings of older communities. Two bridges have been built across the Platte, and excellent roads are completed and being constructed to all the principal diggings. The crowded condition of the map in that vicinity rendered it impossible to exhibit these roads upon it.

COLORADO CITY, located at the very foot of Pike's Peak, though a young town, has already assumed an important position, and is growing with wonderful rapidity. It lies at the mouth of the canon known as the "Ute" or "Colorado" pass, leading to the rich diggings in and about the South Park, and on the head waters of the Blue and the Colorado rivers, forming a direct and excellent natural outlet from those important localities to the plains at the base of the mountains. Should these mines prove as permanent and extensive as they now promise, COLORADO, as their natural supply-post, bids fair to continue expanding into a rich and populous city. The springs from which the famous Fontaine qui Boille. (Boiling Fountain) Creek receives its name, are about two miles from the city. They are large bubbling fountains from which the water gushes with great volume and force. It is so strongly impregnated with soda, that the neighboring rocks are thickly incrusted with that alkali. The people of COLORADO mix their flour in this water, and without the addition of either soda or saleratus, it makes peculiarly light and excellent bread. The Indians formerly regarded these fountains with awe and reverence as the abode of a powerful spirit, who breathed through them; and were wont to throw beads, cloth and knives into the waters, and to hang deer-skins, moccasins, and quivers upon the neighboring trees, as propitiatory offerings to the invisible god.—The Fontaine qui Boille is represented upon the map by the small creek which rises at the foot of Pike's Peak, and running West of the road, discharges itself into the Arkansas. On the 1st day of November, 1859, COLORADO contained about a dozen log buildings.—On the first day of March, 1860, it contained two hundred and fifty-five houses, many of them spacious and well finished.

GOLDEN CITY, 16 miles west of DENVER, on the road to the Gregory diggings, is situated on Clear Creek, a large, rapid stream, with fall enough to furnish any desired amount of water-power. The rapid growth of the town may be inferred from the fact that when the writer visited it on the 25th of June last, there was not a single building erected upon the site; when he next saw it, on the 4th of November, upwards of ninety houses were completed, and as many more commenced and contracted for; two saw-mills were in operation, a weekly newspaper was established, and several large stores were well-filled with goods, and doing a heavy business.

ST. VRAIN, on the Platte, 40 miles north of DENVER, is pleasantly situated on the site of the old trading fort of Col. CERAN ST. VRAIN, frequently spoken of in FREMONT'S narratives of his Western expeditions. A large and commodious hotel, a heavy wholesale trading-house, kept by Messrs. RUSSELL, MAJORS and WADDELL, and other spacious buildings, are erected; and an excellent route to the South Park mines, called the "St. Vrain, Golden City and Colorado Wagon Road," is being opened under the direction of Capt. C. P. HALL, one of the officers of the company.

Other towns are rapidly springing up in all parts of the mining region.

AGRICULTURAL RESOURCES.

Like all mineral regions, the Pike's Peak country is somewhat deficient in agricultural resources. The soil east of the foot of the mountains is mostly arid and sandy, and as very little rain falls during the Summer, is not adapted to farming purposes. Even the valleys of the streams appear unproductive; pulverize a handful of the soil, and it proves to consist almost entirely of sand. But it is precisely identical with the soil of the valleys in New Mexico; and like them, with irrigation, it will produce abundantly, all the small grains and vegetables. While a yield of fifteen fold, or fifteen bushels of grain from one of seed, is an unusually large crop for Illinois, and our other great wheat-growing States, the valleys in New Mexico often produce sixty fold, and sometimes a hundred fold. The valleys in the Gold Region will produce all the great staples of that latitude, with the possible exception of corn. Their elevation is nearly 5,000 feet above the sea; frosts are frequent, even during the summer, and it is doubtful whether corn will flourish, unless it be the small species grown in Mexico, or the variety recently introduced in Oregon, in which each kernel is encased in a separate husk.

The agricultural resources of the region are probably sufficient to support a considerable population, but at present, as in all new countries, the demand will be far greater than the supply; and emigrants who take out farming implements this season, and commence tilling the soil, will reap a rich reward.

CLIMATE.

The climate of the great plains, and all the Rocky Mountain region, is one of the healthiest in the world. The air is so dry and pure that fresh meat, cut in strips in Summer, and in quarters in Winter, and hung up out of doors, will cure so perfectly without salting or smoking, that it may be carried to any quarter of the globe. A trip across the plains is one of the most invigorating and health-inspiring that can be taken. In many cases of general debility, dyspepsia, bronchial affection and incipient pulmonary complaints, it effects a permanent cure; and persons apparently far gone in consumption, have experienced great relief from it. Among the mountains, the bilious diseases of the West, and the complaints of the digestive organs, common through the Southwest, are unknown. Last Summer, a discase called "mountain fever," was for a time prevalent in the mines—but with the general introduction of vegetables and the comforts of life, it is believed that its form will be mild, and its prevalence by no means common. The nights, even during the summer months, are cool, and sometimes cold. The Fall and Winter have proved much more open than was anticipated; and though for short intervals the weather has been extremely severe, and the snow deep, some of the miners have been able to work during the greater part of the time.

THE PARKS,

Are comparatively smooth, fertile spots—the principal ones from thirty to sixty miles in diameter—enclosed on all sides by high mountain walls: in the language of Fremont, "gems of rich floral beauty, shut up in the stern recesses of the mountains." The South Park contains many curious petrifications, including the solid trunks of some huge trees.

TIMBER

Abounds among the mountains, in the shape of pines, hemlocks, and the other coniferæ. The pines, straight as arrows, and sometimes a hundred and fifty feet in height, form excellent timber for building. Whenever railway connections shall be opened with the Missouri river, the freight trains will be loaded with pine lumber for Eastern Kansas, which now receives its chief supplies from Illinois. Several steam saw-mills are in operation in the Gold Region, all doing a heavy business.

THE TERRITORY OF JEFFERSON.

The Gold Fields continue to be known in popular parlance as "Pike's Peak," in spite of all attempts to give them a different appellation. Every emigrant on the plains is bound for "Pike's Peak;" and every one who returns has been to "Pike's Peak," though he may not have approached within 80 miles of the mountain which bears that name.—The people of the Gold Region, however, have selected for their embryo body-politic the name and style of "the Territory of Jefferson," and are now urging upon Congress their claims and unanimous desire for a Territorial organization. The boundaries of their proposed Territory are the 102d and 110th meridians of West longitude; and the 37th and 42d degrees of North latitude. Should the Territory be thus formed, as it probably may before the adjournment of Congress, it will include portions of Nebraska, Kansas, New Mexico, Utah, and Oregon. In anticipation of the action of Congress, the people have already inaugurated what they term a "Provisional Government," electing a full board of officers, but as yet it does not seem to command a unanimous and hearty support.

ROUTES.

The Old Express Route, and the Smoky Hill Route, (which is not represented on the above map) were practically abandoned last season, and the experience of the emigrants indicated that the PLATTE and the ARKANSAS will continue to be the great thoroughfares to the Pike's Peak region. The PLATTE route is somewhat the shorter for parties starting from Leavenworth and points further north, and going directly to Denver, the "Central Overland Express" runs over it from Leavenworth to Denver, and the Salt Lake Mail is carried upon it as far as the South Platte Crossing, where the road to Ft. Laramie and Utah diverges. On the whole, it is a superb natural road, though there is some heavy sand near the Western terminus, and in the early Spring, a few of the creeks and ravines within 40 miles of Leavenworth are troublesome.

The Arkansas route is claimed to be the finest natural road in the world. For early emigrants it is preferable, as the Spring grass starts sooner than on the Northern route.—For persons starting from Leavenworth and any point south of that city, and going directly to the South Park mines, via Colorado, it is shorter than the Platte route. Emigrants starting from Leavenworth, and desiring to take the Arkansas route, will find good roads leading directly to it, either by the way of Lawrence, Topeka, or Fort Riley.

STARTING POINTS, ETC.

Omaha, Nebraska City, St. Joseph, Elwood, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, and Lawrence were last year the principal starting points. More emigrants, however, started from Leavenworth City, than from all the other points combined. Leavenworth may be reached in twenty-four hours from St. Louis, and all the wants of the emigrant can be supplied in its markets. The "Central Overland," formerly the "Leavenworth City and Pike's Peak Express Company"—is now running its stages weekly, from Leavenworth and St. Joseph to Denver City; and will be prepared on the opening of the Spring migration, to run them daily. The ordinary time between Leavenworth and Denver, is from six to seven days; but it is proposed to reduce it to five or even four, if business will justify it. The fare through is $100, exclusive of meals, which ordinarily cost fifty cents each. A weekly express line is advertised to be put upon the Arkansas route, from Kansas City to Pike's Peak, early in the Spring.

The prices of taking freight from the Missouri river this season will probably range from eight to ten cents per pound.

TIME FOR STARTING.

Emigrants who purpose mining or farming, will find it for their advantage to go with their own teams, and should take a supply of provisions, and a complete outfit for from three to six months. Where they go in parties of from four to six, the expense will range from $75 to $150 per man. If the season should be an ordinary one, the first of May is quite early enough to leave the Missouri river. Those who are already starting will encounter great hardships and suffering. Cattle, wagons, and a complete outfit, can be procured in Leavenworth, Lawrence, or any of the other towns named above. Oxen will be from 40 to 55 days on the road.

THE FUTURE OF THE GOLD REGION.

It is a fact of some significance in connection with the Gold Region, that it lies directly in the path of Empire. Baltimore, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Leavenworth City, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Pike's Peak and San Francisco are nearly upon the same parallel.—With but few exceptions, all the great cities and States now belting the Continent, are embraced within the thirty-seventh and the forty-second degrees of North latitude. Our most rapid Western expansion has always been along this narrow strip of country, and here it bids fair to continue until the Atlantic and the Pacific shall be connected by an unbroken line of settlements. Already, numerous ranches and farms are being established in the valleys of the Platte and the Arkansas, from the Missouri river to the Rocky Mountains. A road across the mountains, directly through the Gold Region to Salt Lake City, is being constructed, by which more than two hundred miles will be saved upon the present route to Utah and California, via Ft. Laramie. The "Central Overland, and Pike's Peak Express Company" have perfected arrangements for starting, early in April, a horse express from the Western termini of the telegraph on the Missouri, at Leavenworth and St. Joseph, to the Eastern terminus of the Pacific line in Carson Valley, by which dispatches from all our Atlantic cities will reach San Francisco in ten days! Plans are now being matured for an early extension of the telegraph to Pike's Peak. All the signs of the times indicate that the Gold Region will soon contain a permanent population, numbering hundreds of thousands. This fact must inevitably exercise an important, if not a controlling influence, in locating the great Pacific Railroad of the future, which is rapidly becoming an absolute commercial necessity of the times. The old trappers and mountain men, who are familiar with the Pike's Peak country, unite in testifying to the existence not only of one, but several passes through the mountains in that vicinity, which offer no obstacles to the construction of a railway, so serious as those among the Alleghanies, upon the present routes of the Pennsylvania Central, and the Baltimore and Ohio roads.

A WORD OF CAUTION.

While the richness of the mines is no longer a matter of surmise, but of actual demonstration, a word of caution is needful.—The thoughtless often rush to a gold region, with few correct ideas and no adequate preparation, expecting to realize ample fortunes without trouble or delay. Of the forty thousand people who started for Pike's Peak last Spring, many thousands turned back on the way, dismayed by unfavorable reports. Others, who had set out too early, with insufficient supplies, suffered greatly for want of food; and others still, on reaching the diggings, were disappointed that they could not immediately fill their pockets, and returned in disgust.

Great uncertainty is a necessary condition of gold-hunting. While one man "does well" from the start, there will always be many others, equally worthy and industrious, who are less fortunate. In California and Australia, not more than one in ten of all the immigrants have been successful. Under the most favorable circumstances, even after a rich "lead" is discovered, digging gold is one of the hardest kinds of manual labor in the world. Men who are hardy, energetic, self-reliant and persevering, may reasonably expect, sooner or later, a fair reward for their labors. Those who are timid, wavering and easily discouraged, should by all means remain at home.

BLONDIN IN THE COMING SUMMER.—We learn that M. Blondin has definitely made arrangements to put his rope at Suspension Bridge instead of the Falls. For this purpose he has engaged the open spaces on both sides of the river, between the Suspension Bridge and the Monteagle House. At this point the gorge is an awful one, the sides being more rugged and precipitous, and the water boiling violently in whirlpools beneath. As far as awful scenery is concerned the new place has every advantage over the old one, and in point of comfort for strangers, everything will be arranged in a superior manner. About the middle of June he will make his first crossing at the Falls.

About the first of June he makes his grand crossing of the Montmorency Falls at Quebec. The stretch at this point is nineteen hundred feet, with a sheer depth of three hundred and sixty-seven feet. On this occasion, we understand, the Prince of Wales is to be present, with all his suite, which fact will attract thousands of people to the spot.—Buffalo Republic.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mrs. Horn, aged 78 years, died very suddenly at her residence, about noon to-day. She had prepared dinner, and had sat down at the table with two of her sons, when she fell back and soon after expired. Medical aid was immediately called in, but she was beyond the reach of their kindly assistance.

It will be recollected by our readers that her husband died very suddenly something over a year ago, in the same way. Thus one by one the aged, as well as the young, are called to that higher realm and better world. —Janesville Gazette, March 27.

A MAN SHOOTS HIMSELF BECAUSE HE CANNOT AFFORD TO GET MARRIED.—A young named John Stoudt, about twenty-five years of age, committed suicide last Monday night, in Dalton, by shooting himself thro' the head with a rifle. He was engaged to be married to a young lady in the above named place, and in conversation with her on the previous Sabbath, stated that he could not marry her, as he was unable to obtain money he had loaned out, and was afraid he would not be able to support her. No cause can be assigned for the commission of the dreadful act, other than intimated in the conversation referred to.—Massillon (O.) Times.

AN AMUSING SCENE in the Legislature of Pennsylvania occurred on motion to remove the capital of the State from Harrisburg to Philadelphia. A matter-of-fact member from the rural districts, who had heard of the great facilities with which brick houses are moved from one part of the city to another, and who had not the least idea that anything but moving the State House was in contemplation, rose and said: "Mr. Speaker, I have no objection to the motion, but I don't see how on airth you are going to git it over the river."

HOW TO WASH KID GLOVES.—Have ready a little new milk in one saucer, and a piece of brown soap in another, and a clean cloth or towel folded three or four times. On the cloth spread out the glove smooth and neat. Take a piece of flannel, dip it in the milk, then rub a good quantity of soap on the flannel, and commence to rub the glove downwards, towards the fingers, holding it firmly with the left hand. Continue this process until the glove, if white, looks of a dingy yellow, though clean; if colored, till it looks dark and spoiled. Lay it to dry. Old gloves will soon look nearly new; they will be soft, glossy, smooth, well-shaped and elastic.

OUR GATHERING:

OR,

D—— C——'S FIRST LOVE.

BY ALBERT C. ARTHUR.

"Fill the goblet again, for I never before
Felt the glow which now gladdens my heart to its core.
Let us drink!"—BYRON.

A few nights ago, not a thousand miles hence, a bevy of friends, of which I numbered one, met at the room of D—— C—— to wear the night away in a good old fashion. Now friend C. has a peculiar knowledge of matters and things pertaining to the comfort of the body, and from the appearance of his room on the evening aforementioned, had used it to its utmost extent in preparing for us. A profusion of softly-cushioned armchairs were scattered here and there; the walls were decorated with paintings, of all kinds, and "by the best masters;" while the stove, that best of companions on a winter night, was all aglow, and sent a genial warmth through the "goodlie companie." The etceteras decorated a side-table, beside a case well stocked with books. Our host was all smiles.

"'Twas now the hour when night had driven
Her car half round you sable heaven;"

We were scattered in groups of two and three, some trying to check-mate, others speaking of their "hands," and a few discussing various topics; some excited, some calm, but all enjoying ourselves; when we were disturbed by our host's singing, in a sonorous voice, our opening lines. In a moment all games, all conversation were dropped and silence reigned supreme. The "let us drink" took us, and having filled our glasses we raised them to the light, and, admiring their contents, awaited the toast which F., whose brain was not as clear as wont, was preparing. "Our host and the ladies; ever near and dear to our memories," soon came, and with an attempt at laughter, we drank it. Then such of us who had the good fortune of being possessors of meerschaums refilled them, and those who had not, contented themselves with cigars. Drawing our chairs into a semi-circle around the stove and occupying them as best suited our several notions, we "filled the air with perfumes sweet." Jokes were freely passed round, and the room at intervals was deafening with laughter, till F., tired of the repartees, changed the subject to that of being "married and given in marriage." After discussing, at some length, the reasons why and wherefore it "is not good for man to be alone," G. asked our host the reason why he remained in the state of single blessedness, while all his chums were leaving him.

"That," he replied, "is a secret."

"Tell us the secret," we cried with one voice.

"Well, boys," said he, "seeing that you all wish instructions in the art (?) of making love, and thinking that you can gain a vast deal of information from my experience, I will, provided you are attentive, give my secrets,—why I am a bach!"

Settling easier into our chairs, we promised to give strict attention, if he would go on in his confession, which he did in this wise:

D. C.'S STORY.

"Five years ago this coming July, I was attending college, as a Sophomore, and ranked high in my class. Having promised myself a trip to Niagara at the close of the term, I was patiently awaiting Commencement Day, and it was quite welcome when it came. In a few days thereafter, I was on board the staunch old steamer "Niagara," steaming down the lakes. The weather was all that a seeker of pleasure could wish.

The billows of the mighty deep
Slept on in an unusual sleep,
And over them the sunbeams crept,
And by their side the moonbeams slept;
The ships had shown bird-like on them crept,

For nearly a week, when, safe and sound, I reached Buffalo. I was loth to part with the steamer, on whose white decks I had spent a joyous week of refreshing winds, warm sunbeams, dreamy moonshine, and viewed many happy scenes, so much enjoyed by a lover of Nature; but all things have their time and end, and every hour has its afflictions and consolations.

"Some of you have doubtless heard of my old chum Tom Snooks, hasn't you; well, I found lodgings with him. He had rooms among the elite of the town, somewhere near a large square of parks, and what is better, is a whole-souled, jovial fellow. We had quite a time for nigh a week after my arrival, in flying about the city behind his dapple-greys and seeing the sights. Oh, how I flung myself!"

Here D. C. stroked his sandy beard, gave an extra twirl to his moustache, and then emptied a glass.

"I was one forenoon, I remember it well," he continued, "I was seated in my room poring over Keat's Hyperion—lost in his rapturous flights of thought—when Tom came in and disturbed me by saying:

'Dan, I am going to Miss Folly's party this evening. I met her in the avenue a few moments ago, and she gave me an invitation, wishing me to forgive her negligence in not sending one sooner. I tried to excuse myself on the ground that a rich friend of mine,—meaning you, of course,—demanded my company. She would not listen, but asked for your name, which I promptly gave. Superscribing an envelope she wished me to hand it to you, and there it is.'

He threw the dainty missive upon my opened book and sinking into a chair, continued:

'Now, Dan, you must put on all the moncha'ant airs you can muster; do just as you did two years ago, when you brought that haughty flirt Miss W. at your feet, for a Southern lady, a Miss Clara Putnam, is to be there to-night. She is creating quite a rustle among the ladies, because of her untold wealth and unrivalled beauty, and I want you to do the same. You have a handsome phiz and form, and I have already made you wealthy; all, therefore, that is wanted is the chance to throw yourself. If you don't make an impression I will give up match-making.'

"And he brought his hand down upon my arm with a suddenness that startled me.—Catching my breath, I stammered out:"

"Well—but—really, Tom, you know this is is an unexpected honor; can't I be excused?

"Excused? No, sir, not a word of excuse. I have promised, and we must go.'

"I hesitated no longer, and gave my consent to both go and try to carry out his plans. After tea we commenced our toilet, and it was time to be on our way as we finished. It was a toilet of care and taste, and I say it without pride, that I never appeared better in my life. A carriage was called and we rolled on toward the mansion where our denouement was to take place. The story of my wealth which Tom had circulated, worked to a charm, and my appearances threw in its mite toward aiding my designs. I found Miss Putnam more than what I expected. Her Cleopatrean features were set off by a rich hair-dress, and her form attired in almost regal robes of splendor. She dazzled with wit, quoted neatly, sang beautifully, and played with ease and grace. Her satined feet were the lightest in the dance, and her every movement was that of an accomplished belle. I carried myself as I best knew how.

Clara and I whiled away the time in tete-a-tetes. From our conversation I learned that she was a Virginia heiress, that she resided near Richmond, and was traveling through the North with her brother, for pleasure. Her brother was a young man of about my height and age, and bore a striking resemblance to me, so much so that he was mistaken for me once or twice during the evening. Before we 'broke up,' a party was formed by Tom to visit the Falls on the morrow. Clara, her brother, and I, were of course included.

"Bright and early next morning we were steaming down Niagara river. We were in good spirits, and the day promised us a joyous time. As we neared our mooring at the Falls, Miss Putnam commenced repeating Mrs. Sigourney's "Apostrophe to Niagara." Our party was awed; whether by the majestic, thundering tone of the Falls or by the round musical voice that chained our senses, it would have been hard to tell. I was captivated. Indeed, to tell the plain truth, I was deep in love with her."

Here F. pressed his hands a little below his waist and roared with laughter; we followed in the laugh, and even D—— C—— joined us. When we again became grave and had filled anew our pipes, D—— C—— went on with his story; but not until we had promised profound attention and no more interruptions.

"Leaving the boat we set out for the hotel, where we left all superfluous articles of clothing. Slowly we moved here and there, our guides leading us, explaining, and rehearsing to us tales oft told to visitors.—Truly there is no such enjoyment as that gained from the beauties of Nature; the eye takes in scenery which is forever daguerreotyped upon Memory's tablet, and the senses are filled with a harmonious outbursting of thought propounded by the scene. Among the many pleasantries of the day was the ride on the inclined railway; after reaching the foot of the stairs, we made a wager of the ice-cream, to be paid by the one, or those, who rested on the platform was reached. At the word we commenced our ascent, and 'such a getting up stairs you never did see.' When half way up, we beckoned for the car, and placed the ladies therein, and soon were again on our way. The gentlemen paid the forfeit. And but one incident marred, for the moment, our enjoyment. Walking toward the Suspension Bridge, on the river bank, we came to a natural stairway which led to a stream of pure, ice-cool water that gushed from the rocky wall. Being rather thirsty, our party borrowed a small pail from a ragged maiden, who had come to fill it, and descended to the spring. It was a charming nook. We stood on a large shelf rock that shot out from the rugged steep, and looked down on the tall cedars below, with wonderment. As the 'Maid of the Mist' went by on the boiling river, a hundred feet beneath us, she whistled her shrill ha, ha! ha, ha! and it was echoed and re-echoed, till the ha, ha! ha, ha! grew fainter, fainter, and died in the distance.

TELEGRAPH!

REPORTED BY THE N. Y. ASSOCIATED PRESS FOR THE DAILY SENTINEL.

Washington Matters.

WASHINGTON, March 28—9 P. M.

The Senate committee on Territories directed its chairman at the last meeting, to prepare bills for Nevada, Pike's Peak, Dacotah and Arizonia in the ordinary form, to be submitted next Thursday. No conditions in regard to slavery were proposed, but may be before they are presented to the Senate.

The House committee have this subject still under consideration and will probably adopt the general boundaries for the new territories as proposed by the Senate, excluding Arizonia. They intend, however, to assert the principle distinctly in some form, that slavery cannot exist in the territories unless established by law.

LATEST NEWS!

BY LAST NIGHT'S REPORT

Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, March 28—3 P. M.

HOUSE.—The House resumed the consideration of the bill reported from the Committee on Judiciary, suppressing polygamy in the Territories of the U. S.

Mr. Branch proposed to strike out all declaring polygamy criminal, and retain only so much as annuls and declares void all the laws of Utah sanctioning and permitting polygamy.

After further debate, the motion to table the bill, was negatived; 103 to 158.

Mr. Clark, of Mo., said the Committee on Territories are contemplating the propriety of parcelling out that Territory to the other Territories, so that the people of the others may have power to suppress polygamy and other enormities.

Mr. Branch proposed to strike out all, declaring polygamy criminal, and retaining only so much as declares null and void all the laws of Utah sanctioning and permitting it. He suggested to his Democratic friends if they could render polygamy criminal, then they could render that other twin relic of barbarism, Slavery, as it is called in the Black Republican platform of 1856, criminal. He repeated that he could not vote for the provision to make penal laws applicable to all the Territories of the U. S.

Mr. Logan proposed a substitute to repeal the law establishing the Territorial Government of Utah.

The House then passed to the consideration of other business, without further action on the bill.

On motion of Mr. Hickman, a resolution was adopted authorizing the Judiciary Committee to send for persons and papers, and examine witnesses under oath or affirmation, in reference to the asking for the impeachment of Judge Watrous, of Texas.

Mr. Gurley, from committee on Printing, reported a resolution, which was adopted, in favor of the printing of five thousand extra copies of the report on our commercial relations; and also of the last volume of the survey for a Pacific R. R. by Gov. Stevens, containing the Northern route.

Mr. Sherman, from committee of Ways and Means, reported a bill making further appropriations for the service of the P. O. Department. He asked leave to offer a resolution making the loan and tariff bill the special order for Wednesday next. Objections were made, when he gave notice that he would call up that bill on that day.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the army appropriation bill.

After the debate, Mr. Botsler's amendment to increase the appropriation for the armories from $250,000 to $400,000, was rejected—47 against 71.

The committee rose and reported the bill to the House with an amendment.

Adjourned.

SENATE — The joint resolution making Macon, Ga., a port of entry, was passed.

Mr. King presented the memorial of citizens of Genesee, N. Y., in favor of the passage of the Home Homestead bill.

Mr. Bodlitte presented a petition in favor of a uniform bankrupt law.

Adjourned.

N. Y. State Democratic Convention.

TRENTON, March 28.—3 P. M.

The Democratic State Convention met at 12 o'clock for the choice of delegates to Charleston. There was a large representation, and Andrew Dutcher was appointed temporary chairman. Adjourned to two o'clock.

The following persons were elected Senatorial delegates: Wm. Wright, Benj. Williamson, J. A. Wall, and Jno. C. Rafferty.

Congressional—1st district, Jno. L. Sharp, and Samuel Hanna; 2d district, David Maar and Geo. T. Ford, 3d dis., Joshua Doughty and Albert R. Spear; 4th district, John Hyler and Robert Hamilton; 5th, Sam'l Wescott and Jacob Vanordale. Resolutions were adopted as follows:

1st. Denounces the Republican position in Congress as disregarding the provisions of the Constitution for the protection of slave property.

2d. Says the Constitution must be sustained, and a ready observance of the laws enforced to preserve the Union.

3d. The third asserts that federal legislation on slavery should be limited by the Constitution; all that instrument gives should be acceded, and all it withholds sho'd be denied.

4th. Says it is the duty of every State to protect itself against invasion by fanatics, and to punish offenders in an exemplary manner.

5th. Is in favor of the fugitive slave law, and in favor of the suppression of the slave trade.

6th. Endorses the Cincinnati platform, and says we will consent to no unauthorized interpretations of it.

7th. Is for a tariff by wise discrimination in favor of home manufactures and says that the Government should for public uses favor home products.

8th. Recommends Wm. C. Alexander for Vice President.

9th. Recommends the delegates, on all questions, to cast a united vote.

The Fugitive Slave Case at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, March 28—3 P. M.

The fugitive slave case was resumed this morning. Counsel for prisoner asked for the adjournment of the case until to-morrow, on account of the non-arrival of witnesses. The request was not granted. The argument of the case then commenced, and after its conclusion the fugitive slave Horner was remanded back to his owner by Judge Cadwallader.

Great excitement prevailed in the vicinity of the court house on the announcement of the Judge's decision. A large crowd, chiefly composed of negroes, assembled, and on the fugitive's being taken to the carriage, they surrounded it and made a desperate attempt to rescue. The carriage was broken down, when the police interfered and arrested twelve of the rescuers. The fugitive was then escorted to prison.

A writ of habeas corpus, returnable to Judge Allison to-morrow morning, has been served on Marshal Yost.

John Robins, an Administration Democrat, has been nominated by the Democrats of this city for Mayor.

Two of the attempted rescuers have been committed to prison by the city authorities—nine negroes and one white man. The U. S. have sent in a writ of retainer. In the meantime, the fugitive awaits the action of the State Courts on the habeas corpus.

New York Matters.

NEW YORK, March 28—9 P. M.

At the fire this morning on 45th street, besides the loss of ten lives, several persons were badly injured. A sister of Mrs. Bennett jumped from a window of the fourth story into the yard, breaking her thigh. She is also badly burnt, and it is feared will die. Six children were rescued from the upper stories by firemen. Nine bodies have been taken from the ruins. It was a tenement house with but one flight of stairs, under which the fire was kindled by an incendiary, as is supposed.

The examination of the two pirates (Jacklew and Hicks) commenced to-day; but nothing, thus far, has been elicited that has not already been published. Both prisoners exhibit a remarkable degree of calmness.

Delegates to Chicago.

BOSTON, March 28—9 P. M.

The Republicans of the seventh district to-day nominated Geo. Cogswell, of Bradford, and Timothy Winn, of Woodburn, delegates to the Chicago Convention.

NORFOLK, Va, March 28—9 P. M.

The brig Virginia, Capt. Lynn, from New York, an alleged slaver, captured on the 10th of February in the Congo Liver by the U. S. sloop of war Portsmouth has arrived here. She had no slaves on board. Lieuts. Brown and Tyler brought the brig here.

CHARLESTON, March 28—7 P. M.

The steamer Isabel has arrived from Havana. Havana sugar market firm with a brisk demand; Muscovado 6 1-2a7 1-2 reals. Molasses dull and nominal; Cloyed 3 1-2 and Muscavado 5a5 1-4. Freights slightly declined.

MONETARY.

WEDNESDAY P. M., March 28, 1860.

We continue to quote Exchange on New York firm at 2 @ cent premium, and buying by the banks at 1/4 premium. Money is close, the banks still confining their discounts to the offerings of straight business paper.

We have the following by telegraph from New York to day:

STOCKS—Very dull and rather lower except Panama and Pacific Mail which are higher; CARIBE, U & C 81; 110 61; MS 1st mtg 93; Pan 134½; M C 41½; Erie 19; Pac Mail 101¾; M S II; N Y C 75¾; Mo 64 91; U S 5s of 65 100¾.

COMMERCIAL.

WEDNESDAY P. M., March 28, 1860.

Receipts by Railroad for the 24 hours ending noon to-day include:

Flour, bbls	588
Wheat, bus	5 624
Barley, bus	850
Rye, bus	120
Oats, bus	2,141

There was no essential change in the produce market to-day. The improved tone of the foreign news, together with the continued light receipts here and at other points, gave more firmness to wheat, but there was no disposition evinced to advance prices.

A few hundred barrels of flour changed hands at $3,50 for fine, $4 for superfine, and $4,70 for a fair quality of extra.

No change in other articles.

LARGE SHIPMENT OF FLOUR.—The propeller Cuyahoga cleared this morning for Grand Haven, with some three thousand barrels of flour for the Detroit and Milwaukee Railway. The rate on flour to New York by this route is now down to 90 cents.

COMMERCE OF BUFFALO.—The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser of Sat[illegible] contains an elaborate review of the trade and commerce of Buffalo for 1859, from which we gather some interesting statistics with regard to the amount of produce handled there during the year.

Wheat—The receipts of wheat from all sources amounted to 9,559,909 bushels, against 10,744,854 bus. in 1858—a decrease of only 1,184,946 bus. The receipts of 1858 were larger than any other year in the history of Buffalo. The sources of supply by lake last year were as follows:

Ohio	516,994	87,234	52,504	1,051
Indiana	955,802	332,100	35	570
Michigan	428,616	72,323	25,392	1,925
Illinois	2,563,433	805,571	226,008
Wisconsin	2,762,378	21,058	302,505	30,511
Canada	426,697	50	180,065	100,595
Total	9,424,652	3,113,653	1,394,502	363,560

Ohio is thus shown to have contributed more flour than any other State. Wisconsin and Illinois are credited with more wheat than all the other States combined. Illinois, again, sends us more corn, oats and barley than all the other States. Of lumber, Canada contributed the largest amount, although Michigan may be said to fairly equal her, the difference being scarcely worthy of mention. The resources of both are of the most unbounded character, but latterly capitalists seem to have turned their attention more directly to Michigan. Canada, on the contrary, has brought forward an increased number of staves, which in a measure balances the deficiency in lumber. Indiana ranks first in her shipments of hogs and cattle, while Ohio is first in the item of sheep and wool.

THE WOOL TRADE OF CLEVELAND.—It is claimed for Cleveland, Ohio, that that city is the largest wool market in the West, and that it justly claims rank with any Eastern city in this respect. A paper published monthly in that city, entitled The Wool Grower, which is devoted mainly to this interest, states that the amount shipped from Cleveland during the year ending Jan. 1, 1860, was 6,762,358 lbs., which embrace about one half of the clip of Ohio. A large proportion of this amount was distributed directly to manufacturers of the New England States; and quite a large proportion of that sent to Philadelphia, New York and Boston, was for account of manufacturers.

Barley, bus	84
Rye, bus	631

The Press & Tribune says:

The inquiry for flour to-day was again light, and the market dull and heavy, the sales being limited at $4,80 for good brands of spring extra. Wheat was dull and prices again fell about 1c, the transactions being small and ruling at 95@[illegible] for new receipts No. 2 spring, and 96c for old receipts of the same grade. The corn market opened dull and heavy, and prices fell 1@1c on Change, but reacted slightly after the receipt of the New York dispatches, and closed with a much firmer feeling. The transactions, however, were not heavy, at 42@42c for new receipts No. 1 in store; 40@41c for old receipts of the same grade, and 40@ 41c for fresh receipts No. 2, the market closing firm at outside quotations. The demand for oats was light, the market quiet and rather lower, with sales at 29@ 29½c delivered. Rye continues scarce and in demand at 56c. Barley active and firm, with liberal transactions at 70@75c for fair to prime on track. Timothy seed firm at $2,80@2,90. Clover seed dull and heavy at $4@4,25. Hungarian grass neglected. The Gazette of Monday says:

There was an improved demand for provisions on Saturday, but no disposition to pay higher prices.—Holders were very firm and they met buyers sparingly.—For Mess Pork $17 was freely offered, but a small amount only—700 bbls—was obtained at this figure; $17,25 would have been accepted to a considerable extent for city brands, but that was 25 cents above the limits of orders. ST. LOUIS MARKET, MARCH 4.—Wheat declined 1¾@2c at St. Louis on Saturday, with a dull market. In its weekly review the Democrat says:

The receipts of flour and grain have been very large by river and rail this week and last, and prices have given way, not only in consequence of this, but for want of sufficient shipping facilities, a sufficiency of water, &c. City superfine sold on 3d inst. at $4,75, at which it has held for the last few days, while stocks of country flour, from various points, have so accumulated as to cause sales of a good article of spring superfine at $5,00. City extras continue in good demand at high rates $5@5,50. Wheat has continued to decline for a week or more, with large receipts from various directions.
